

The Canadian National Shuffleboard Association 2019 Report

Canada has a very busy year in 2019 we have the inter-Provincial tournament in early July.

There are two CNSA tournaments, one in May and the other in late July.

Our western provinces are very much improved as far as membership. Edmonton Alberta is starting a new club and they already have over 100 members.

Our eastern provinces are picking up a few more members as well.

In Ontario we are trying to increase our amateur membership.

In Coldwater Ontario (a small town in the northern Ontario) they have a membership of over 175 - mainly Amateurs.

The pro players are coaching their new players and they are turning out some of the finest Amateurs in Ontario.

The Province of Quebec has many players who play in the winter in Florida. They are very good players, but we are unable to get them to participate in inter provincial tournaments or CNSA tournaments.

This year I am going to spend a lot of time trying to get them involved.

We will have a full team for Austria this year, but I must admit it has been hard to pick up players as some of them were there last year at the inaugural. Most of the players who attended did not apply.

The CNSA had their elections this past July. The standing executive have been voted back in for another two-year term.

As everyone knows, Stan McCormack retired from running the shuffler blog. He has been a main stay in the shuffleboard community for many years. We wish him well in his new adventure.

All and All Shuffleboard is very healthy in Canada.
