

Norway – report

What a great year for shuffleboard in Norway!

Raise your hand those of you who ever thought of a Norwegian World Champion! But we got it in Brasil, when Ellen Hansson made the impossible possible. And if you did not know – her husband Olav is also a World Champion! Not in shuffleboard, but as a skijumper. He got his gold medal in his hometown Oslo in 1982.

Norway also got a bronze medal in the first European Championship, which was held in Germany. Lille Nielsen Berg had a great tournament, and made all Norwegian shufflers proud of her.

On home soil we had 4 tournament, with Anne-Lise Flatland and Paal Gjelseth winning the Norwegian Championships.

Sadly there will not be a Norwegian team in Canada for the World Championship, but we promise to come back strongly at next years championship in Austria.

Best of luck to all shuffle-friends in Canada.

Best regards
