

National report – Norway

Thanks to Covid, Norway still has the reigning World Champion in shuffleboard Could Mats Graff-Wang be the longest reigning champ ever? At least we joke about it from time to time.

Actually we have only missed one tournament in Norway during the pandemic period, in spring last year. Luckily our country was never hit very hard from Covid.

So we keep on playing as normal at Tjoeme, as we have done for the last 15 years.

No big news, no big changes. As a matter of fact we are satisfied keeping the number of players and the number of tournaments at quite a low level.

Everybody know eachother – and enjoy being together.

For the time being, we will keep it at that level.
